BIENNIAL REPORT
OF THE
AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS, OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE, ILLINOIS, }
Springfield, December 1, 1854. }

To the General Assembly of the State of Illinois :

I have the honor to submit the following report of the receipts and disbursements during the two years ending November 30, 1854, which are presented in the following order :

1. A statement of the receipts and expenditures, showing the whole amount received, applicable to the payment of the ordinary and contingent expenses of the state government, and the amount paid out.
2. A general statement of warrants drawn upon the treasury for all purposes.
3. A detailed statement of warrants issued, showing on what appropriation, and to what account charged.
4. A detailed statement of warrants drawn upon the contingent fund.
5. A statement of the three per cent. fund received from the general government.
6. A statement of the school, college and seminary funds.
7. A statement of interest on the school, college and seminary funds distributed to the counties.
8. A statement of warrants issued, showing the amount outstanding.
9. A statement of surplus revenue drawn from the treasury, and the state indebtedness purchased therewith.
10. A statement of state land fund drawn from the treasury, and the state indebtedness purchased therewith.
11. A statement of the state lands.
12. A statement of banks organized, showing the kind and amount of stocks deposited, and the amount of circulating notes outstanding.
13. A statement of the treasurer's account.

14. Comparative statement of the assessments in the several counties, showing the amount charged, collected, &c.

The returns of the assessments for the current year (1854) not being complete, and as it is probable that they will not all be received at this office before the first of January, this report will not embrace a tabular statement of property assessed in the year 1854. A supplemental report will be furnished during the present session, in which such statement will appear.

The returns of 1853 exhibit an increase in the value of taxable property in the state over that of the previous year of $75,865,328, equal to about fifty-one per cent. Nevertheless, only a small portion of this increase should be attributed to the operation of the new assessment law, as by far the greater part of it is owing to the natural increase in the value of property. For a period embracing the last two years, no state in the Union has made more rapid progress in the development of its resources, and in the accumulation of wealth, or can show a greater degree of general prosperity than the great state of Illinois. I am satisfied that, had the taxable property in all the counties been assessed at its true value in money, as contemplated by the assessment law of 1853, the result would have shown that Illinois is able to meet all her liabilities without imposing on the people a rate of taxation much, (if any,) higher than is paid in many of our sister states. Although it is but justice to admit that the assessors in some of the counties have discharged their duties faithfully in the valuation of property as near as practicable in accordance with the requirements of the late assessment law, yet I regret to say that in a large majority of the counties such a valuation as the law contemplates has not been made. The practice of regulating the amount of taxes by valuing the property high or low, will always produce inequality in the assessment. The amount of taxes should be regulated by the rate levied, and the property should be valued at its true cash value. It seems to me impossible to fix upon any other rule by which an equality in taxation can be as easily attained, and surely it is bad policy for a new state like Illinois, while inviting immigration and capital into her borders, to represent herself as being in a worse condition than she really is. If we can show, by a correct estimate of the value of taxable property within the state, that we are able to liquidate our debt and meet our current liabilities without the necessity of imposing an onerous rate of taxation, that debt, which has occasioned so much clamor, will cease to be a terror to capitalists abroad, or to any others who may be disposed to cast their lot with us.

When we take into consideration the prosperous condition of the state, notwithstanding the prejudice occasioned by the assessment of property at one-half its real value, and the effect of false figures upon the views and movements of capitalists and persons immigrating to western states, what may we not reasonably expect if we can by a correct estimate free ourselves from this bug-bear, "high taxation?" It would be much better, in my opinion, to reduce taxation to one-fourth the present rate, and secure a full and fair valuation of all the taxable property, than to allow the prevailing practice to continue. Capitalists will not so much enquire whether the state is making immediate payment of her debts as whether she is able to do so, without greatly augmenting the rate of taxation. If assurances are given that the ability exists without the augmentation beyond what is reasonable and usual in other states, then this outcry will cease to be a barrier to the importation of capital, and the removal of its proprietors where they can participate in the profits so lavishly returned by the soil and trade of Illinois.

It was hoped and believed that the present law, which so clearly defines the rules and modes of listing and valuing property as to leave no doubt of the intention of the legislature, would have produced an equality in the valuation, at least approximating the true value, and have prevented any just cause of complaint on the part of tax-payers, but from various causes this desirable object seems to have been defeated. The hue and cry made by a few persons against some of the provisions of the assessment act, during its pendency before the legislature, which found a ready echo in almost every county, spreading alarm all over the state before the act was put in print, and an opportunity given for circulation and scrutiny, created a prejudice against it difficult to be overcome by more considerate examination of its details; and when we take into consideration the fact that the county officers had but a very short time to examine the law before they were required to act under its provisions, we may find some excuse for the loose manner in which it was executed in many counties. The main objection to the general principles of the law, so far as I have been able to ascertain, is, that it requires all property to be assessed at its true value in money. If this were a new feature incorporated into our revenue system there might be some plausibility in the argument, and it should be heard and answered with a proper degree of patience—but it is not; the principle is strictly in accordance with the requirements of the constitution of the state, and is the same incorporated in the revenue law of 1839, and in all revenue laws enacted subsequent thereto.

The fact that there had not, previous to the passage of the act of 1853, been any definite rule prescribed for determining the value of property, seemed to leave each assessor free to follow his own peculiar notion of justice—at least this was the practice in almost every county, and, as a natural consequence, property of equal value in adjoining counties was assessed at rates varying 50 per cent., and in some cases even more. That such a state of things should exist under a system so loose, with no fixed rule to govern alike all whose duties required them to act under it, is not surprising; but that the same practice should continue under the existing law, containing as it does, clear and unmistakeable rules for determining the value of property, and why such inequality should exist in the assessment made in 1853, I am wholly at a loss to account for, unless a satisfactory solution can be found in the causes already stated, with the influence of long continued practice and the want of time for a thorough understanding of the requirements of the late law. It has been said by some that the present law is too stringent, while others contend that it is not sufficiently so, and that to secure a just assessment it will be necessary to require every tax-payer to swear to the correctness of the schedule of his property. It cannot be denied that all laws regulating taxation should be sufficiently stringent to protect those who are disposed to act fairly and render a full list of their taxable property from imposition; for, as the rate of taxation (except for state purposes) is made to depend upon the aggregate value of the taxable property in the town, district, or county, it follows as a necessary consequence that if all the property be not taxed the owners of the property assessed must pay a higher rate and a greater sum to make up for that which escapes assessment. Hence all revenue laws of the state should be sufficiently stringent and coercive to compel every tax-payer to bear his just proportion of the necessary expenses of the state government. It must be remembered, however, to what a great extent the security of property and the protection of character and of life depend upon the sanctity of an oath; for this reason I am not disposed to require oaths to be administered to parties on matters where they are directly and personally interested, if it can be avoided, and if any other plan can be adopted by which a just assessment can be secured it would be preferable. The greatest difficulty seems to exist in ascertaining the value of moneys and credits, as correct information in regard to this class of property generally lies solely within the knowledge of the owners or persons controlling it; hence it may be necessary to require that such property be returned under oath.

That portion of the assessment law which relates to banks and brokers seems to require some amendment. I presume that the bank commissioners will explain the difficulties in regard to the former, and as to the latter, it is my opinion that they should be required to pay a tax on the capital stock used in their business, and the value of such capital stock should be ascertained and determined in the same manner that the capital stock of merchants is determined. Merchants bring their goods into the state and sell them, with a view to profit, and they are protected by the laws of the state in the prosecution of their business; hence they are required to pay taxes on the value of such goods, whether they owe for them or not. Brokers, or at least some of them, bring money, bank paper, &c., here to trade, with a view to profit, and are protected likewise in the prosecution of their business, by the same laws; but they say, we owe for this capital, and therefore we should be exempt from taxation. This subterfuge should not avail them any more than other classes.

The constitutionality of so much of the revenue law as authorizes the auditor to issue stress warrants, with orders to sell the property of delinquent collectors, &c., has been questioned, and as it has but little if any advantage over the regular mode of proceeding in the courts against such collectors, I respectfully suggest its repeal.

Experience has shown that the advantage to the public of having the delinquent non-resident list returned to the auditor's office, and allowing the taxes to be paid directly into the state treasury, is not commensurate with the labor and expense attending it. It is, therefore, suggested that the law be so changed as to require all the taxes to be paid in the respective counties. I might suggest corrections in some other portions of the assessment and revenue laws, but it is not deemed necessary to do so in this report.

Under the law now in force the rate per cent. levied for state purposes is 49 1-3 cents on each one hundred dollars' valuation as, follows :

Two mill tax, to pay the state debt,	-	20 cents.
One and one-half mill tax, to pay interest on state debt,	- - -	15 "
One mill tax, to pay ordinary expenses, including the interest on the school, college and seminary fund, and the one-sixth mill appropriation to the institution for the education of the deaf and dumb,	- -	10 "
One-third mill, for expenses of the Illinois state hospital for the insane,	- -	3½ "
One-tenth mill, for expenses of Institution for the education of the blind,	- -	1 "

It will be seen by the foregoing statement that the tax levied for the benefit of the state hospital for the insane is equal to one-third of the tax levied to defray all the ordinary expenses of the state, including the interest on the school, college and seminary fund, appropriations to the institution for the education of the deaf and dumb, and a large portion of the interest on the liquidation bonds.

The tax for the benefit of the institution for the education of the blind is equal to one-tenth, and the tax for the benefit of the deaf and dumb is equal to one-sixth of the tax applied to the payment of the ordinary expenses, except the interest on the school, college and seminary fund. I will here remark, that as the funds for the payment of the interest on the school, college and seminary fund, do not pass through the state treasury, but are paid directly by the county collectors to the school commissioners, of course the one-sixth of a mill appropriated to the institution for the education of the deaf and dumb does not apply to that portion of the tax, but only to the amount actually received into the treasury. Not having the means at hand from which to determine whether the public interest will justify a reduction in the taxes levied for the benefit of those institutions or not, I submit the question to the wisdom of the legislature, and hope that some more economical plan for their support may be adopted, by which the people may be released from the payment of any more taxes than shall be actually necessary.

As the law requires the taxes to be paid into the state treasury by the first day of July, the greater portion of which is actually paid before that time, it follows that the two mill tax, amounting to nearly half a million of dollars, and the January instalment of the interest fund tax, say one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, remain useless in the vault of the treasury, under the operation of the provisions of the constitution and the laws now in force, six months in the year. If these funds could be paid over as soon as collected, it would save the state a large amount of interest annually. This matter is therefore submitted for your consideration.

Lists of the swamp lands approved to the state, lying in the Kaskaskia and Edwardsville land districts, and in that part of the Quincy land district lying west of the fourth 'principal' meridian line, have been received from the commissioner of the general land office, and filed in this department, and abstracts of the said lands have been made out and forwarded to the county clerks of the respective counties in which they are situated. The foregoing are the only approved lists of swamp lands filed in this office at the date of this report.

The large quantities of public lands that have been entered and located during the past two years has greatly increased the lists of taxable real estate, and it is estimated that the entries and locations made during the year ending first of May, 1855, and which will be placed upon the tax lists for the year 1855, will at least be equal to the quantity entered and located during the two previous years. We may safely estimate that under the operation of the act of congress reducing the price of public lands, there will be but little if any public land remaining unsold at the end of the following year, 1856; hence almost all the lands in the state will, by the year 1857, be placed upon the tax lists, which will add much to the sources of revenue, and at the same time relieve this department of a very onerous and large amount of labor.

It is expected that the maps, field notes and other records of the original surveys, now in the office of the surveyor general, will be ready to be turned over to the authorities of the state within a few months from this time, hence some legislation in regard to the reception of said records seems to be necessary, as by the third section of an act of congress, approved January 22d, 1853, it is required that the state, by law, make provision for the reception and safe keeping of said records, before they can be delivered over to the state.

The office room allotted to this department is quite insufficient. It is not only impossible to arrange the records in any kind of convenient order, but the large increase in the business of the department renders it impossible to do the labor required without a great sacrifice of the public interests, as well as inconvenience to those whose duty it is to perform it. If provision is made for furnishing rooms sufficient to arrange the records and business of the office in proper order, it will enable the auditor to discharge the duties of the office with much more satisfaction to himself, and certainly with much greater advantage to the state.

In regard to the present condition of the treasury I will remark, that from the $29,024 84 subject to draft for ordinary expenses, at the date of this report, may be deducted the sum of $7,642 50, due for salaries, and the sum of $5,067 17, to meet the interest on liquidation bonds, becoming due on the first day of January next. Other claims that will probably be presented for payment during the present month, may be estimated at $5,000 00, making the sum of $17,709 67, which will leave subject to draft, at the close of this month, only the sum of $11,315 17. There will probably be a small amount received into the treasury before the adjournment of the present session, but it is feared not sufficient to meet accruing expenses during that time.

It is believed, however, that the present rate of taxation will be sufficient to meet all necessary expenses during the ensuing two years, and I need scarcely add, that I have full confidence that in making appropriations, such regard to economy will be observed, as to avoid the necessity of any increase in the rate of taxation.

Respectfully submitted,

THO. H. CAMPBELL

Auditor P. A.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

TREASURER'S OFFICE, ILLINOIS,
Springfield, December 1st, 1854. }

To the General Assembly of the State of Illinois :

In accordance with the provisions of law, I have the honor to submit the following report of the receipts and disbursements of the public money within the two years ending November 30th, 1854, in the following order :

- 1st. A statement of the aggregate receipts for revenue purposes.
2. A statement of revenue receipts from the assessment of 1853, 1852, 1851, and previous years ; the receipts of the three former years being the amounts from which one-sixth of a mill are deducted for the education of the deaf and dumb.
3. A statement of monthly receipts of revenue from the assessment of taxes and other sources.
4. A statement of monthly receipts of special taxes and from the sale of state lands.
5. A statement of monthly credits on account of each fund, by receipts from the auditor of public accounts.
6. A statement of the annual receipts of special taxes from the 1st December, 1845, to 30th November, 1854.
7. Treasury balance sheet.

The receipts and disbursements and balance of each fund on hand on the 30th of November, 1854, as appears by the foregoing statements, are as follows, viz :

Receipts for revenue purposes, including the balance on hand on the 1st of December, 1852, amount to $554,902 13. Payments on the same account, including $137,053 82 as surplus revenue, and $51,000 for the education of the deaf and dumb, amount to $525, 877 29, leaving a balance in the treasury of $29,034 84.

Receipts on account of the state debt fund, including the balance on hand on the 1st December, 1852, amount to $701,220 99. Payments on the same account amount to $545,140 80, leaving a balance on hand for pro rata distribution on the 1st January, 1855, of $418,567 57.

Receipts on account of the interest fund, including balance on hand, amount to $592,972 08. Payments on the same account amount to the sum of $530,621 18, leaving a balance of interest in the treasury of $62,350 90.

Receipts on account of the hospital for the insane, including the balance on hand, amount to $120,371 51. Payments on the same account, including amount overpaid by collectors and refunded, amount to $102,977 53, leaving a balance on hand of $17,394 08.

Receipts for the institution of the blind, including balance on hand, amount to $54,776 64. Payments on this account, including amount overpaid by collectors and refunded, amount to $50,683 58, leaving a balance in the treasury of $4,093 36.

From the sale of state lands, the sum of $280,894 06 have been paid into the treasury since the month of July, 1853. Payments have been made from the same fund amounting to $264,535 10, leaving a balance in the treasury of $16,358 96.

From leases, &c., of saline lands, the sum of $777 have been received, and now remains in the treasury for the improvement of the navigation of the Saline river.

Receipts from old materials sold by the state house commissioners amount to $197 12, and payments to the same amount have been made for improvements about the state house.

Payments have been made into the treasury since May 1st 1854, on account of non-resident land tax, amounting to $7,790 80.

The sum of twenty-six dollars have been paid into the treasury from Adams county, in favor of unknown heirs under the provisions of section 12, chapter 79, Revised Statutes.

An appropriation of $2,500 was made by the last general assembly for the construction of a vault or safe in the treasurer's office. A very substantial and commodious one, of cut stone, of very superior quality and workmanship, secured with burglar-proof doors and locks, has been erected during the present year, and is pronounced by competent judges to be fully equal, in point of mechanical skill, and for the security of its contents, to any structure of the kind in the western country. The total cost of its construction exceeded, by less than ten dollars, the amount of appropriation.

JOHN MOORE, Treasurer.

STATE TREASURER, to the State of Illinois
